The Marland Refining Company owns in whole or in part 105,174 acres of active and undeveloped oil leases in the Mid-Continent field, exclusive of interests in Louisiana, or acreage controlled by it through affiliated companies in Mississippi.

As of May 1, 1921, its supply of crude oil is obtained from 249 wells on 53 properties, which yielded 2,280,009 barrels in 1920, of which its net interest was in excess of 1,250,000 barrels.

The Company has a complete refinery, located at Ponca City, and a skimming plant at Covington, Oklahoma, the two having a combined capacity of 15,000 barrels per day when both are operated as skimming plants. The Ponca City plant has a daily capacity of 6,000 barrels when operated as a complete refinery and is equipped to refine crude oil down to its last analysis, including wax and petrolatum.

The company owns and operates two casinghead gasoline plants in the Ponca and Mervine fields, and owns a half interest in a third plant in the Garber field. The Kay County Gas Company is primarily a pipe line company and a producer and distributor of natural gas. It owns and operates 224 miles of oil pipe lines converging at the Ponca City refinery of Marland Refining Company, and 7 miles of lines from the Garber fields to the Covington refinery, forming a connecting link between the companies' producing leases and refineries. Most of these lines extend into the Western Osage Nation, which was opened for oil leasing by the United States Government only two and one-half years ago, and of which there are approximately 1,000,000 acres as yet unleased and undeveloped.

The Kay County Gas Company also owns 345,937 acres of gas leases in the western part of the Osage Reservation, said to be the largest contiguous holdings of gas leases by one company in the Mid-Continent field. Gas from the developed portion of these leases is collected and distributed through its 140 miles of gas lines. Through joint holdings of oil leases with the Marland Refining and affiliated companies, the Kay County Gas Company is also an oil producer, having produced 111,883 barrels in 1920.

Organization—Incorporated in Delaware, Oct., 1915, with $100,000,000 authorized capital stock, all of one class (par $50).

On Nov. 2, 1917, the following stock controlled subsidiaries were merged: Midvale Steel Co., Worth Bros. Co. and Wilmington Steel Co.

The Midvale Steel & Ordnance Co. own plants at Coatesville, Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., the steel capacity of which amounts to 900,000 tons per annum, the principal items of which are pig iron, plates and tubes, a considerable portion of its total tonnage being special products which command a high price, such as boiler tubes, locomotive tires, rolled steel wheels, high-speed tool steel, marine forgings and armor and ordnance; and also through ownership of all of the capital stock of the Buena Vista Iron Company, has valuable ore lands in Cuba.

Through present financing the company has acquired stock control of the Cambria Steel Company, which has under a 999 year lease the property of the Cambria Iron Company, owning large plants at Johnstown, Pa., the finished steel capacity of which is in excess of 1,800,000 tons per annum. This consists of diversified commercial steel products, such as pig iron, billets, rails and general track accessories, structural shapes, bars, agricultural steel, wire products, steel axles, spring steel and steel cars. Control is thus also secured of all of the stock of the Penn Iron Mining Companies of Michigan and Wisconsin, and a one-half interest in the Mahoning Ore and Steel Company, owning the Mahoning Mine, one of the largest ore deposits of the best grade on the Mesaba Range. The Cambria Steel Company also owns or controls by virtue of said lease, coal lands containing an estimated tonnage of 225,000,000 tons of steam and coking coal. The Cambria Steel Company, through its owner-Cambria Steel Company, through its ownership of stock in the Cambria, Mahoning, Johnstown and Beaver Steamship Companies, controls bottoms for the transportation of its raw material from the head of the lakes.

The company has acquired stock of the Cambria Steel Company costing more than $25,000,000 with proceeds of the sale of its own capital stock. All Cambria Stock so acquired must be deposited with the trustee before any issue of these bonds may be made. These bonds can only be issued at the rate provided by the indenture, and to provide funds to reimburse the company for the actual cost of all additional Cambria stock acquired and pledged with the trustee, which cost shall not exceed an average of $81 per share.

MINNEAPOLIS & ST. LOUIS RAILROAD CO.

Incorporated in Iowa in 1916. In 1911 absorbed the Iowa Central Railway Co., through an exchange of stock. In 1915 purchased the Des Moines & Ft. Dodge R. R. Co. July 1, 1916; a reorganization was effected and on the same date the Iowa Central & Western Ry. Co. was merged. The Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. Co. owns 1,539.13 miles of road from Minneapolis, Minn., via Oskaloosa, Ia., to Peoria, Ill., Minneapolis to Watertown, Leola and Le Beau, S. D., and to Des Moines, Storm Lake and Ft. Dodge, Ia., and leases and has trackage rights on 112 miles additional.

The lines of the company traverse the wheat belt of Minnesota and South Dakota, and agricultural products, under normal conditions, furnish more than one-third of its tonnage. Consequently the road is more or less dependent on crops for its income, which fluctuates widely, with good and bad crops.

NEW YORK, NEW HAVEN & HARTFORD RAILROAD CO.

Incorporated in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in 1872. The company owns 1,235 miles of road and leases 760 miles additional, including lines from New York to New Haven, Conn., Providence, R. I., and Boston, Mass., with numerous branches and including practically all of the railroad in Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts south of Boston.

The company controls through stock ownership the New York, Ontario & Western Ry. Co. and the Central New England Ry. Co., owning lines from Hartford, Conn., via the Poughkeepsie Bridge to Scranton, Pa., and Oswego, N. Y., and forming the shortest all rail route between the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania and New England.

The N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. controlled practically all of the street and interurban railways in Connecticut, practically all of the railroad in New England, including the Boston & Maine and Maine Central Systems, and a large proportion of the steamship lines operated in New England waters. The Department of Justice of the United States, having had occasion to question the method by which this control was secured and also the manner in which it was exercised, recommended that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Co. divest itself of the control of these properties, which the railroad company agreed to do, and the various stocks representing the control of the system enumerated above have been turned over to trustees, who will hold them until able to dispose of them to the best advantage of the railroad company.

Largely due to the acquisition of unprofitable properties the income of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Co. has suffered a severe decline.

Franchise—The company and its subsidiaries operate under a fifty-year grant authorized by the Legislature of the State of Ohio, which became operative on August 13, 1896, extending to April 22, 1946, and has been upheld, as constitutional by the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio. The franchise gave the City of Cincinnati the right to revise all the terms and conditions of the grant at the end of the first period of twenty years; that is, as of April 22, 1916. The city, exercising its right of revision, did proceed to revise the terms and conditions of the Company's franchise, which resulted in the passage, by the City Council of Ordinance No. 253-1918, the validity of which has also been adjudged, establishing the "service-at-cost" plan. In addition, Ordinance No. 253-1918 provides that the operating company shall receive a percentage of any surplus when fares are maintained at low rates, which is an added incentive to economical management and is productive of co-operation between the public and the company. If the Reserve Fund is called upon to make up deficiencies in the ordinance payments, and is thereby reduced to $250,000, the fares are at once increased and remain at the higher rates until all deficiencies of such payments and accruals are paid and surplus earnings are provided until the reserve fund again reaches $650,000, when fares are automatically lowered.

During the life of these notes the foregoing rstrictions will also apply to the business and property of The Palmolive Company of Canada, Limited.

It is, however, expressly covenanted that the Company will not pay any dividends upon its stock, common or preferred, if such payment would reduce the net current assets below the amount stated in the next preceding paragraph. So long as any of the notes are outstanding the Company will not purchase, retire or liquidate any of its common stock, nor will it distribute any amounts carried to permanent surplus account as above provided, nor will it purchase, redeem or retire its preferred stock out of surplus or earnings accumulated before September 30, 1918.

It will not dispose of any substantial or essential part of its fixed property or properties unless it applies the proceeds to the purchase of other fixed prperty or properties of at least equal value or to the sinking fund for the redemption of the notes of this issue.

Since that date this company has substantially increased its holdings, first, by acquiring additional amounts of the capital stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Ltd., of which it now owns about 71%; second, by greatly enlarging its fleet of tankers which now consists of 23 tankers (owned) with an aggregate tonnage of 192,025 tons d. w. capacity, which is to be increased by 5 tankers now under construction, making a total owned fleet of 28 steamers with an agregate of 243,825 tons d. w. capacity; (the actual tonnage in the service of this company, its controlled and affiliated companies at present is 289,305 tons, and, upon completion of ships under construction and the delivery of others due under charter contracts, this total will be increased to approximately 375,000 tons); third, by the acquisition and development of additional oil properties in California through its subsidiaries; and, fourth, by the organization of the British-Mexican Petroleum Company, a marketing company operating in Europe, in which the company owns a 50% interest.

All the foregoing vessels are chartered to the Huasteca Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Ltd., of Delaware, and are equipped in the most modern manner to qualify under the highest standard classification for such vessels. The average age of these ships is about three years and eight months. The company reserves the right to substitute another vessel of equal or greater tonnage and value in place of any of the above specified steamships.

The mortgage securing the new bonds provides that the company shall cause to be kept insured, the steamships subjected thereto, during the life of the bonds, against loss or damage arising from the perils of the sea, including fire, collision and accident liability. The aggregate amount for which all vessels shall be insured, payable in the event of total loss, shall be equal to at least 115% of the principal amount of the bonds of this issue, from time to time outstanding, not exceeding, however, the full insurable value of the vessels. Such insurance shall be payable to the Trustee, for the benefit of the bondholders. Funded debt	2,305,150

Security—These notes are the direct and only obligation of the Peerless Truck & Motor Corporation and will represent the sole debt (excepting ordinary current working liabilities).

The notes are secured by deposit with the Trustee of all of the preferred and common stocks of the subsidiary companies shown above. The indenture contains adequate provision against the authorization or creation of any mortgage, lien or charge whatsoever upon any of the assets or earnings of the existing properties other than obligations incurred in the regular and current conduct of the business.

Cash and quick assets must at all times be maintained in excess of all other liabilities and indebtedness, secured and unsecured, to an amount equal to at least 60% of the notes outstanding. Quick assets are carefully defined in the trust indenture which provides, among other things, that materials and supplies included shall be valued at cost or market value, whichever is lower.
